

Thursday Dinner In-Site Troop Cooking

Thursday during your week at Camp you'll be cooking dinner in site. Our Camp will provide all the ingredients to cook a pot of chili, cornbread, and rice, but your troop is more than welcome to bring more ingredients, spices, dessert, or even a completely different meal all together. Troop leaders may leave to pick up any ingredients at a local supermarket if you would like to have any extra ingredients. Remember your troop chuck box, with cooking equipment, and mess kits. If your unit doesn't have cooking equipment, talk to our Kitchen Staff, if we can, we'll be glad to offer you tools you may need.

Starting after lunch, a member of your troop can head to the Kitchen, and pick up your ingredients. If nobody is at the Kitchen (thursday is our hardworking Kitchen staff night out), find a member of our staff/management team in the office, and we'll help you out! If you need any dietary alternatives, make sure to let our Kitchen Staff know so that we can have that ready for your troop.

Colors will be at 6:45, instead of 5:45. This will allow your troop more time to eat, clean up, and get ready.

Chili Cook Off

An annual event here at Settlers Camp is our cooking competition! This event has produced quite an interesting assortment of presentations over the years. For those interested in seeing how your chili ranks among the rest of Camp's, our staff will taste and judge your culinary creations. We will give out awards for best presentation (extra points if it's theme related), best taste, and best dessert! Feel free to drop off a small sample right before colors.
